

Meet the NYSSSWA Board: Jacqueline Jones

New York City Regional Representative

Jacqueline Jones is a clinician and educator with over 20 years of experience working within complex school systems. She holds an MSW from Adelphi University and an MST from Pace University and brings a unique dual perspective as a former New York City special education teacher and school social worker. Her career spans social work practice across diverse organizational settings and public education. She currently supervises school social workers for NYC Public Schools' Manhattan Central Crisis Support Team, serves as an adjunct lecturer at SUNY Plattsburgh, and maintains a private practice.
